

Endless love

By this time I see you as my knight
With your sparkling armor and your braveness.
I beg you to vigil on me every night,
and make me a girl full of joyousness.

But can I be you princess?
I think that our lives would be bright,
Just as your smile, that is something priceless
I will be to you as the sunflower is to the light.

Can our love ever be endless?
This is the question that afflicts me.
I don't want this story to close with sadness,
So certainly our end should never be.

I know that two bodies can stop being,
But I'm sure that our love will never stop breathing.
